

Current Projects

Members of the ACP-De International Health Subcommittee are involved in a variety of projects as outlined below. As a group, we are engaged in:

- Raising the profile of global health activities in Delaware
- Engaging students and residents in particular to undertake educational experiences pertinent to global health
- Connecting those physicians who are active in the global health field
- Furthering the aims of the ACP-DE chapter with regards to international health-related activities.

Activities of our members:

Javed M. Gilani, MD:

- Trained in tropical medicine in the UK
- Wrote article on Malaria for the Del Med J
- Active interests in clinical travel medicine and pre-travel counseling

Wesley Emmons, MD:

- Fellowship training in Infectious Disease

Alina Gover, MD:

- Active interest in global health exchange programs

Arun Malhotra, MD:

- Active in medical education programs
- Active in DE Academy of Medicine

Ehsanur Rahman, MD:

- Helped set up primary care clinic for underserved in Bangladesh
- Active in supporting medical education and global health initiatives

Omar A. Khan, MD:

- Trained in public health with focus on international health
- Involved in primary care projects in South Asia
- Co-authored 2 books on the topic; chapters on tropical medicine topics for '5 Minute Clinical Consult'
- Directed Global Health Curriculum for Univ. of Vermont residents and students