

Livedo Reticularis

Livedo reticularis is an irregular reticular (net-like) erythema that blanches with pressure. It is associated with many conditions, including a poor tissue perfusion or oxygenation as might be seen with sepsis.