

Nephrocalcinosis

The plain film of the abdomen shows nephrocalcinosis defined by the presence of multiple stones located in the region of the corticomedullary junction. This radiographic finding is seen in renal tubular acidosis, primary hyperparathyroidism, medullary sponge kidney, and primary hyperoxaluria.