

Baker's Cyst

A Baker's cyst is an outpouching of the knee joint synovium into the popliteal area. It is associated with rheumatoid arthritis, osteoarthritis, and trauma. Rupture of a Baker's cyst will produce pain and swelling mimicking a deep venous thrombosis. This patient's left calf is swollen due to a ruptured Baker's cyst.