

Subacute Cutaneous Lupus Erythematosus

Sudden onset of annular or psoriasiform plaques usually on the upper trunk, arms and hands after sunlight exposure is characteristic of subacute cutaneous lupus erythematosus. This patient has the classic annular lesions with central clearing and no scaling.