

Obama's Transition Team Citizen Briefing Book

President-elect Obama's transition team has announced a new site <http://citizensbriefingbook.change.gov/> for individuals to propose ideas to the administration and to rate the ideas of others. Healthcare is one of several categories on which individuals can submit ideas. The ideas with the most support will be included in a briefing book to the new President. There are several categories/topics on which you can submit ideas, including healthcare.

The College encourages ACP members to post ideas relating to primary care workforce and health care coverage. Posting ideas on these issues will help educate and bring visibility to the issues impacting primary care internal medicine.
