

State Information on White House Health Reform Website

The White House Health Reform website has useful state-by-state data that highlights the current status of health care and the need for reform this year.

Click here to access the information: <http://www.healthreform.gov/healthcarestatus.html>.

July 15, 2009