

Screening for Breast Cancer in Average-Risk Women: A Guidance Statement From the American College of Physicians (2019)

The goal of this American College of Physicians guidance statement is to critically review selected guidelines from around the world and their included evidence to assist clinicians in making decisions about breast cancer screening in asymptomatic women with average risk for breast cancer.

Annals of Internal Medicine full text: <http://annals.org/aim/article/doi/10.7326/M18-2147>

Read Summary for Patients: <http://annals.org/aim/article/doi/10.7326/P19-0007>