

Preparing for Future Pandemics and Public Health Emergencies: An American College of Physicians Policy Position Paper

A new policy paper from the American College of Physicians (ACP) says that there are significant gaps in the U.S. pandemic and public health emergency response system, leaving it unprepared for future emergencies. ACP offers recommendations about what needs to be done to ensure the U.S. is in a strong position to mitigate the consequences of future pandemics.

Annals of Internal Medicine full text: <https://www.acpjournals.org/doi/10.7326/M23-0768>