

Quality Indicators for Pain in Adults: A Review of Performance Measures by the American College of Physicians (2024)

The American College of Physicians reviewed performance measures designed to evaluate quality of care for those suffering from acute pain, finding three valid measures to assess the overuse of imaging for low back pain and two performance measures that evaluate appropriate use of opioids.

Annals of Internal Medicine full text: <https://www.acpjournals.org/doi/10.7326/ANNALS-24-00773>