Volume 76, No. 11

November 2017 Issue

In the November 2017 edition of HJM&PH, we feature a study assessing physician adherence to screening guidelines for sexually transmitted infections in an OB/GYN teaching clinic, and a study on patient communication, satisfaction, and trust before and after use of a standardized birth plan. In the Medical School Hotline, learn about efforts to advance suicide prevention in Hawai'i, and in the Insights in Public Health column, learn about efforts to improve ambulatory blood pressure monitoring. Finally, the Scripts column provides insights into the use of targeted nanocarrier based systems for the treatment of lung cancer.

Apply to this year's HJM&PH Writing Contest!
Accepting submissions until December 29, 2017.
