ABOUT THE PRESENTERS

Natasha Bagdasarian, MD, MPH, FIDSA, FACP serves as the Chief Medical Executive for the State of Michigan and is a key member of Governor Gretchen Whitmer's Cabinet. Board-certified in Internal Medicine and Infectious Diseases, she is a Fellow of both the Infectious Diseases Society of America and the American College of Physicians. Dr. Bagdasarian earned her medical degree from Wayne State University, completed her internal medicine residency and infectious diseases fellowship at the University of Michigan, and holds a Master of Public Health (MPH) from the University of Michigan School of Public Health, where she also serves as adjunct faculty. She leads critical public health initiatives as the chair of Michigan's Public Health Advisory Council, Childhood Lead Elimination Commission, and Opioid Task Force and was a member of Michigan's Coronavirus Task Force on Racial Disparities.

Tucker Billups, DO, FACP is an Instructor of Internal Medicine and the Director of Point of Care Ultrasound at Corewell Health East William Beaumont University Hospital. He is also deeply involved in medical education, serving as a Co-Chair of the Michigan Chapter ACP Medical Student Program Committee and a member of the Governor's Council.

A native of Grand Rapids, Michigan, Dr. Billups pursued his undergraduate studies at the University of Michigan, majoring in kinesiology, before earning his medical degree from Michigan State University College of Osteopathic Medicine. He completed his residency at Corewell Health William Beaumont University Hospital, where he later served as Chief Resident. In just his first year as a hospitalist and teaching attending, he earned the prestigious Inpatient Teacher of the Year award.

With a passion for medical education and bedside care, Dr. Billups is committed to integrating Point of Care Ultrasound into internal medicine. When not in the hospital, he enjoys spending time with his family, supporting Michigan and Detroit sports, golfing, and staying active.

Rachel Karmally, MD, FACP has spent the past nine years practicing academic outpatient and inpatient medicine at Henry Ford. Her interest in point-of-care ultrasound (POCUS) began six years ago, driven by a curiosity about how it could enhance clinical care. After attending her first foundations course through the American College of Physicians (ACP), she was convinced of its value and everyday utility. She continued to develop her skills through hands-on practice and additional coursework, ultimately earning the POCUS Certificate of Completion through the Society of Hospital Medicine (SHM). For the past two and a half years, Dr. Karmally has served as an Associate Program Director and the POCUS Curriculum Director at Henry Ford.
