

Call for abstracts for the October 29-30, 2020 Ohio/Air Force ACP Chapter Scientific Meeting at the Greater Columbus Convention Center in Columbus, Ohio

The abstract competition is open for all residents/associates (MD or DO) and medical students (allopathic or osteopathic) with an active membership with the American College of Physicians and are in training during the above meeting. You must have an ACP number to submit an abstract and you may only use your own ACP number to submit. Anyone deviating from these guidelines will be disqualified. How do you join the ACP? Simply click on the link or paste the url into your browser: www.acponline.org/membership/join

Faculty and subspecialty fellows are encouraged to work with residents and students on their abstract and poster but will not be able to be listed as the first author or present posters. Each medical student or resident may submit one abstract as first author. No exceptions to this will be made.

Abstracts will be accepted into one of five categories: Clinical Vignette, Clinical Research, Basic Research, Quality Improvement/Patient Safety, or High Value Cost Conscious Care. These five categories are identical to those in the ACP National Abstract Competition. For further details regarding the definition of each category, please see the descriptions on the national page.

All abstract submissions will be electronic. Use the following link to access the instructions for the abstract competition:

The abstract submission deadline: 11:59 PM, April 30, 2020. Abstracts received after the deadline will not be accepted. We highly encourage you to submit early to ensure that your abstract is received.

All communication regarding the abstract competition will be sent electronically, so please make sure your submission e-mail address is accurate. You will receive a confirmation e-mail notification once your abstract has been successfully submitted. Also, all authors, the program/clerkship director listed and their staff, will be notified by email, as to whether your submission has been selected for presentation or not, no later than July 30, 2020. Please add jwrassman.acpohio@gmail.com to your safe senders list so as not to miss notification.

We look forward to your participation!
