

FREE ONLINE HEALTH CARE COST ESTIMATOR RESOURCES

There are many websites that can help people estimate the costs of services or prescriptions. It is helpful to search more than one website since costs may vary for the same items.

Several free websites exist to estimate health care costs for both inpatient and outpatient services. We compared easily accessible free websites to estimate costs. Most of these websites do require some medication knowledge to be able to supply a CPT code or exact name of a service. However, some allow the user to select from a list of common services. Few allow the user to select their own insurance coverage to help with cost estimation—others list the fair price, or the price that the facility has negotiated with the insurance providers.

New Choice Health allows users to estimate costs of inpatient and outpatient procedures and incorporate insurance provider and location. However, it is limited to certain procedures and providers. Therefore, we recommend using both FH Consumer Cost Look-up and Healthcare Bluebook to estimate potential costs.

1. In addition to the listed websites, several states now provide similar tools for their own state. These can be accessed from the Consumer Health Ratings website (consumerhealthratings.com) or by searching on your state's website.
2. Search for estimated prices on Medicare.gov (medicare.gov/procedure-price-lookup/).
3. Also, patients can be advised to search specific health plan websites. Some of the health plans offer pricing tools to their customers. Hospitals are now also required by the CMS to post charges for services offered on line. With assistance, these may also be beneficial to patients when planning their health care.
