

Example of a poorly constructed, wordy text slide, with too many words per line.

Chronic Venous Insufficiency

- Ulcers occur in about 1% of patients with chronic venous insufficiency
- Ulcers occur more commonly in men than in women
- Ulcers are more common with advancing age, especially after age 60
- Ulcers tend to be chronic and recurrent in most patients

Example of an improved, more concise text slide.

Ulcers in Chronic Venous Insufficiency

- 1% prevalence
- Women > Men
- Increase with age
- Chronic and recurrent