Meeting Highlights

- 2015 Update in Internal Medicine SEP Module
- Strategies to Prevent Physician Burnout
- Meeting Your Rhode Island Licensure Requirements
- What's New and Controversial in Bariatric Medicine
- Awards Presentations
- Resident/Fellow Forum Competition

Dear Colleague,

Join me and your colleagues in internal medicine at the next scientific meeting of the Rhode Island Chapter of the American College of Physicians, being held March 30, 2016, at the Warren Alpert Medical School of Brown University in Providence.

This is a place for you to recharge, rewind, reflect, and reconnect with your peers, chapter leaders, and great speakers. Make your connection to the Rhode Island Chapter's rich source of knowledge content and networking by attending our premier meeting for general internists, subspecialty internists, hospitalists, allied health practitioners, residents, and medical students.

In addition to earning CME credits, this conference is about making personal connections and getting involved in your chapter. You'll engage with people who know your challenges and can help you find solutions. The opportunities available at this meeting will help you meet not only your needs as a physician but also the needs of the patients you serve.

To ensure your place at this invaluable meeting, register now by visiting us online at www.acponline.org/about_acp/chapters/ri.

I look forward to seeing you in Providence.

Sincerely,

Audrey Kupchan, MD, FACP
ACP Governor, Rhode Island Chapter

Meeting Information

Resident/Fellow Members' Activities

Clinical vignettes, posters, and research papers prepared by Resident/Fellow Members and Medical Students will be presented at the meeting. Winners will receive monetary prizes and be eligible for entrance into the national competition held during Internal Medicine Meeting 2017. Contact Hilary Sweigart at hfsweigart@gmail.com for information about entering the Resident/Fellow Members' Competition. Deadline for submissions is January 30, 2016.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this activity, the participant will be able to:

- Apply updated knowledge of palliative care, opioid prescribing, and long-term complications following bariatric surgery to clinical practice.
- Review recent advances in treatment of hepatitis C, weight loss medications, and bariatric surgery.
- Improve clinical practice by incorporating new developments in preventing physician burnout, navigating ethical issues at the end of life, and choosing among diets for weight loss.

CME Accreditation (Program: 1:00-4:00 p.m.)

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation requirements and policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint providership of the Warren Alpert Medical School of Brown University and the American College of Physicians, Rhode Island Chapter. The Warren Alpert Medical School of Brown University is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The Warren Alpert Medical School of Brown University designates this live activity for a maximum of 2.75 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits[™]. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Who should attend

- Family practitioners
- Fellows in subspecialty training
- Hospitalists
- Allied health practitioners
- Residents
- Medical students interested in internal medicine

Chapter Awards

It is with distinct pleasure that the Rhode Island Chapter presents this year's Irving Addison Beck Laureate Award. Laureate Award winners are long-standing and loyal supporters of the College who have rendered distinguished service to their chapters and community and have upheld the high ideals and professional standards for which the College is known. The award will be presented at 12:30 p.m. during the Annual Scientific Meeting.

The Milton Hamolsky Lifetime Achievement Award will also be presented.
