Selecting only scientifically strong and clinically relevant content

This timesaving alert service screens every issue of over 120 journals using three steps:

Step 1: Methodological Review

Health research experts read articles and select only the most scientifically robust (~15% of all articles screened)

Step 2: Clinical Review

At least 3 clinicians in the associated discipline rate the newsworthiness and clinical relevance along a 7-point scale

Step 3: Your Filter

YOU select the medical disciplines and rating thresholds for the article alerts you want to receive

YOU select the access mode:

- Frequency
