Dear Member,

The Colorado ACP Early Career Physician’s Award was developed to recognize a Colorado early career physician for outstanding contributions in internal medicine.

The award will be given to an outstanding young physician in internal medicine. The physician must be highly respected by his or her colleagues for outstanding clinical skills and for being a role model in the community. This individual should have distinguished himself or herself in service to patients, the physician community and the community at large. This physician should be an educator to his/her patients or the community. A young physician is someone who is within 16 years of graduating medical school. Ideally the physician would be an ACP member. Repeat nominations of previous non-winners are welcome.

Applications should include the nominee’s curriculum vitae and a nomination letter. Up to two additional supporting letters for the candidate may be written by colleagues or patients.

The deadline for applications is October 19, 2018. Please email the application and the supporting documentation to: Mary Wallace, MD at: Mary.Wallace@ucdenver.edu or Christine Westbrook at: cochapteracp@msn.com.
