This year, ACP started a leadership program with two parts: courses on leadership and business with the American Academy for Physician Leadership (formerly known as the American College of Physician Executives) and a series of webinars by the ACP on leadership topics.

The third webinar will be on January 20, 2015 from 6:30 pm to 8:00 pm ET. The topic will be "Topics in Hospital Medicine: Working with Administration" and will be presented by Dr. Lakshmi K. Halasyamani, MD, FACP, the Chief Medical Officer for Physician Development at Sound Physicians, a national hospitalist medicine company.

This is a great topic for those working or thinking of working in hospital medicine but also for anyone working at hospitals or employed by hospital/health systems.

The webinar is absolutely free, is interactive, and only requires the Cisco WebEx player plugin for your browser on Windows or Mac or through an app on your iOS or Android device.

The link to the ACP leadership page and to register for the January 20 meeting (with email reminders) is: http://www.acponline.org/education_recertification/resources/leadership_development/

You can also view the previous archived webinars at this site as well.
