Efforts advance to put more health care providers in reach of Georgians

Georgia Budget & Policy Institute
We want all people to be in good health and have access to the health care services they need. But many Georgians are struggling to afford health care, causing them to put their well-being at risk by delaying care or leaving them with medical debt. And some people are not able to find health services in their area due to a lack of providers. READ MORE

Georgia ACP offers a webinar — Safe Opioid Prescribing: An Overview for Rural and Urban Practices
Thursday, June 13, at 5:30 p.m.

ACP
At the completion of the webinar, participants will be able to describe the current state of the epidemic of opioid use disorder in the U.S. and the stage of Georgia, including differences in rural and urban communities, implement best practices in chronic pain management in the ambulatory setting, develop enhanced patient-centered communication strategies to address chronic pain and opioid use, and implement safe opioid prescribing practices in the ambulatory setting, including risk reduction strategies. READ MORE

Early testing has become critical in dementia care

ACP

Findings from the Alzheimer’s Association 2019 “Alzheimer’s Disease Facts and Figures” report released last month show that, despite a belief among seniors and primary care physicians that brief cognitive assessments are important, only half of seniors are being assessed for thinking and memory issues, and fewer receive routine assessments. The issue becomes more prevalent as baby boomers age, so it has become reality that early assessment is necessary in order to improve overall quality of life for patients as well as their caregivers.
