NEWS YOU CAN USE

FROM NATIONAL ACP:

The ACP Leadership Academy will present two webinars in January. Webinars are open to all ACP members, and attendees will have the opportunity to ask questions following the presentations. Please contact us at lead@acponline.org with any questions.

Gender-Based Differences in Burnout

Wednesday, January 8, 2020

3:00–4:00 p.m. ET

The American College of Physicians and American Medical Women's Association (AMWA) present "Gender-Based Differences in Burnout." In this free 1-hour webinar, Connie Newman, MD, FACP, and Kim Templeton, MD, explore the institutional and societal factors that contribute to burnout; discuss how burnout can differ between female and male physicians; and present strategies to reduce physician burnout.

Mindfulness in Medicine: What Physicians Need to Know

Tuesday, January 14, 2020

3:00–4:00 p.m. ET

Mindfulness is an evidence-based approach to mitigating physician burnout, not only building calm but also enhancing focus, heightening compassion for self and others, and shifting limiting thought patterns. In this dynamic webinar, Gail Gazelle, MD, FACP, MCC, CMMT, will provide an overview of various conceptualizations of mindfulness, review research on its effectiveness, and provide practical strategies readily incorporated into the physician's workday.
