

Ohio ACP Brief and Timely Topic E-Newsletter Volume 2.28.15

Welcome to another edition of our Ohio ACP E-Newsletter. This will be the last E-Pulse from me as governor as we transition our leadership to Dr. Michael Tan in the spring. Dr. Tan will assume his role as Governor after the Internal Medicine 2015 meeting in Boston. You will hear this from me several times over the next few months. It has been a distinct privilege to serve as your governor. Thank you for that opportunity and for supporting the Chapter. Michael is well prepared and has exciting new ideas for us. We are in good hands.

2015 Annual Chapter Meeting

The Call for Abstracts went out earlier this month. I encourage all medical students and resident/fellows to participate. The deadline for submission is April 30, 2015 11:59:00 p.m.

ACP Centennial Award Winner

We are privileged to announce that James S. Tan, MD, MACP, FIDSA, FCCP, previous Governor of our chapter and father of Drs. Michael Tan, FACP, and incoming Governor and Stephanie Tan, FACP has been recognized by the American College of Physicians as a national Centennial Award Winner. Recipients were selected on the basis of overall contributions to the College and Chapter. In addition to his term as Governor, and Mastership in the College, Dr. Tan was a Chapter Master Teacher Recipient as well as Laureate award winner and was responsible for expansion of student and resident participation in Chapter meetings.

Annals Personae Photographs for ACP's Centennial

Posted on February 5, 2015

In recognition of the American College of Physicians' 100th anniversary, Annals of Internal Medicine is seeking photographs of internal medicine physicians to feature on each issue of the journal during 2015, the ACP's centennial year. In choosing from among submitted photographs, we will seek photos that capture personality and celebrate the diversity of individuals who devote their professional lives to the practice of internal medicine. Readers and others are encouraged to submit photographs of internal medicine physicians for consideration. In an effort to bring people to the pages of the Annals of Internal Medicine, the editors began publishing photographs of people in 1999. Annals published photographs in a section of the journal called "Personae" from 1999 to 2000, and photographs have appeared on the cover since 2000.

Written permission to publish the photograph from the subject (or subjects) of the photograph or the subject's guardian or next of kin must accompany submissions. The subject must understand that, if selected for publication, the photograph will not only appear on the cover of the journal but also in digital versions of the journal and associated publications. Photographs can be published without the subject's permission only under the following circumstances: 1) the subject is unidentifiable in the photograph or 2) the photograph was taken in a public venue, is not potentially damaging to the subject, and is accompanied by a written statement from the photographer vouching that the photograph was taken in a public venue with the subject's consent. A cover letter ensuring no prior publication of the photograph and providing permission from the photographer for Annals to publish the image should accompany all submissions. In addition, the letter should indicate the name and specialty of the internist depicted and the photographer's name, academic degrees, institutional affiliation, mailing address, telephone number, and e-mail address. Photographers must relinquish copyright to the American College of Physicians before publication. Pictures from photographers unwilling to do so will not be considered.

Please submit high-resolution, digital copies of photographs to Nicole Briglia at nbriglia@acponline.org for consideration in our special 100th-anniversary issues. Please mention this special venue when submitting your work. We look forward to receiving your photographs.
