Award descriptions:

Washington ACP Internist of the Year
We seek to honor a community-based internist considered to be a role model by his or her peers. Nominees should possess excellent clinical skills, dedication to patients, enthusiasm for medical practice, leadership, and the ability to maintain humanity and a healthy balance between professional and personal interests that we can all strive to emulate. Internists who have championed innovations in practice to promote healthy patient behaviors will be given special consideration.

ACP Community Service Award
We seek to recognize an internist or group of internists who have an exceptionally positive impact on their community through volunteer activities.

ACP Golden Apple Award
We seek to honor volunteer teachers who have made a substantial contribution to the education of medical or other health profession students in his/her community. Balancing teaching with all the other demands of our profession is an important contribution to the future of internal medicine.
