Dear ACP Wisconsin Chapter member,

Team-based care is a developing mode of practice which aligns well with the current changes in medical practice and reimbursement. The ACP Wisconsin Chapter Council and its Health and Public Policy Committee have been promoting its study.

You, and members of your health care team, are invited and encouraged to register now for the Wisconsin Council on Medical Education and Workforce (WCMEW) 2015 Team-Based Care Summit. Please see below for information on the summit.

WCMEW Team-Based Care Summit 2015: Transforming Concepts into Reality
Thursday, November 12, 2015
9:00 am – 4:00 pm
Radisson Paper Valley Hotel, Appleton

Register today at: http://events.SignUp4.net/15TBC1112

This one-day event will provide interdisciplinary education and discussion, building upon Wisconsin’s work on health care redesign and advancing team-based care. The day’s sessions will serve to strengthen existing teams, catalyze new team development, bridge care silos, and spark new ideas.

Physicians, nurse leaders, nursing staff, pharmacists, physical therapists, physician assistants, advanced practice registered nurses, social workers, administrative leaders and any other health care staff who design and support team-based care initiatives are all encouraged to attend.

The registration deadline is October 21. Please click here for the Summit agenda. In addition, full information and online registration can be found at http://events.SignUp4.net/15TBC1112.

WCMEW is a multistakeholder organization that includes the Wisconsin Medical Society and whose purpose is to facilitate strategies to assure an adequate supply of health care providers to meet the needs of Wisconsin citizens today and into the future.

Thank you,

Mark K. Belknap, MD, FACP
Governor, ACP Wisconsin Chapter
