ACP supports this measure. While this measure is a low bar, it is a good starting point to educate physicians on their performance compared to their peers, encourages good documentation practices, and discourages overuse of routine colonoscopy.

Date Reviewed: November 7, 2015