ACP supports this measure. While the measure could push harder to align practice and evidence (5 year interval), it is still a step in the right direction towards reducing overuse and we do not want to discourage a progressive step even though it is a tentative one.

Date Reviewed: November 7, 2015