PQRS 287 [Reviewed by NQF but not endorsed]: “Counseling Regarding Risks of Driving”

Counseling of patients and caregivers regarding driving is good clinical practice. However, there is no evidence to support the impact of this intervention on improving clinical outcomes, the level or intensity of counseling required to change behavior, or the interval at which this intervention should be performed.

Date Reviewed: April 7, 2014