ACP supports this measure because the information collected from the CG CAHPS survey provides important feedback to clinicians and healthcare institutions and it enhances the provider selection process for consumers. Although we support this measure, the attribution factor is difficult as many visits involve several providers.

Date Reviewed: November 7, 2015