Council of Early Career Physicians Call for Nominations

The American College of Physicians (ACP) strives to represent the diversity within the early career physician member population in filling open seats on the Council of Early Career Physicians (CECP). The CECP is responsible for responding to requests from the Board of Regents, committees, and staff for review of programs, products, and services, and advising the Board of Regents on:

- Enhancing professional development for early career physicians
- Fostering their involvement in College activities
- Increasing the value of ACP membership for early career physicians
- Strengthening chapter level councils and activities
- Aligning council activities with the College's Priority Themes

To be eligible to run for a seat on the CECP you must be:

- A Member or Fellow of the College in good standing who is within 16 years of medical school graduation and who is no longer in training.

To be an effective council member you must commit to:

- Serving a three-year term beginning during ACP Internal Medicine Meeting 2023, being held in San Diego, CA, from April 27-29.
- Participating in Internal Medicine Meetings during your term including attendance at CECP meetings and facilitation of early career physician activities, as appropriate, during the meeting.
- Traveling to Philadelphia once each year, as appropriate, for a council meeting and participating in several additional remote meetings. The CECP in-person meeting is typically held in early August.
- Possibly serving as the early career physician representative on one or more College committees. Serving on a committee will require at least one additional trip to Philadelphia or Washington, D.C.
- Spending approximately 1-2 hours bi-monthly on council activities.
- Adhering to ACP's Disclosure of Interest and Management of Conflicts Policy and disclosing any relevant interests via the Association of American Medical Colleges (AAMC) CONVEY system for council participation.

Open Seats: The council has multiple seats to fill for this election cycle. If you are interested in running for an open seat and meet the eligibility requirements of an early career physician, please follow the submission instructions below.

How to Apply:

Nomination materials must be submitted via e-mail to acpgovernance@acponline.org no later than November 1, 2022.

The council candidate application package should include:

- Curriculum Vitae
- One–page nominating letter written by the candidate that answers the question:
What role can the Council of Early Career Physicians play in creating an environment within the College in which ACP members who are in the early career stage are more likely to actively participate at both the national and chapter level, and if elected to the CECP, what do you envision doing to assist in achieving these goals?
- Two letters of support. One letter of support MUST be from your current ACP Chapter Governor. In special circumstances, a letter from a former governor or governor from another state may be appropriate. Approval for requests to obtain a letter from a former or current Governor other than the applicant’s current Chapter Governor is granted at the discretion of the Chair of the Council of Early Career Physicians with notification of the applicant’s current chapter Governor. The other letter should be from an ACP Regent, Governor, Fellow or Member.
- By November 1, 2022, complete or update your Member Profile in MyACP to provide updated demographic information. The College is committed to achieving a just, equitable and inclusive culture at ACP by promoting and advancing DEI values through intentional initiatives, policies, and actions to be anti-racist.

The council will conduct elections in November/December taking into consideration all aspects of diversity as well as each candidate's leadership/work experience, ACP involvement and potential contributions to the council. Candidates will be notified of the results by the end of December. Questions regarding the elections should be sent to ACP staff at acpgovernance@acponline.org.
